Marine Mammal Internship

Mission Statement of the Vancouver Aquarium: The Vancouver Aquarium is a self-supporting, non-profit association dedicated to effecting the conservation of aquatic life through display and interpretation, education, research, and direct action.

Marine Mammal Department

An integral part of the Aquariums mission is the display of marine mammals for education, interpretation and research. The Marine Mammal department at the Vancouver Aquarium cares for and trains 30 individuals of 6 different species, some of which include Pacific white sided dolphins, Beluga whales, Harbour seals, Sea otters, Steller sea lions and Northern fur seals. We are dedicated to providing the best care possible for each of our animals. Our training is based on positive reinforcement.

Marine Mammal Training Internship Program Description

The Vancouver Aquarium in Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada, is accepting resumes for a summer internship in the marine mammal department. This internship is designed to introduce practical experience in husbandry skills and the basics of training in combination with the many skills that are associated with being an excellent marine mammal trainer. This goal will be accomplished by working closely with our marine mammal staff under the supervision of a mentor. Regular evaluations, both formal and informal will allow for a productive and fun learning experience. This is an unpaid 5 days a week, 40 hours per week position for three months. During the placement period you will experience all aspects of marine mammal care, including but not limited to, facility cleaning, diet preparation, public presentations, interactive programs, and animal training/husbandry sessions.

Essential Responsibilities

During the early stages, interns will spend a large portion of their time cleaning exhibits and preparing animal diets. Daily animal observations, training tutorials, record keeping, participating in the department's enrichment program and observing and assisting in the training of the Aquariums marine mammal collection will help complete the day. All interns will be required to complete and present a formal presentation to the marine mammal department prior to the end of their term.

Requirements

Applicants must be currently enrolled in a community college or university, or a recent graduate and intending to pursue a career in marine mammal care and training. Must be a highly motivated self-starter. No previous marine mammal experience is necessary for the position.

Accommodation

All candidates are expected to find their own accommodations in Vancouver. For more information on accommodation and maps, please find resources like the "Student Guide for Living in Vancouver" on our intern webpage <http://www.vanaqua.org/volunteer/volunteer-wex.html>.

Application Deadline and Number of Positions

Four unpaid internship placements are available for each slot. Applications are due one month before each placement begins. Please note these dates are subject to change.
